Violation of an Order for Protection Results in a Serious Domestic Violence Assault at a Residence in Bremerton

Bremerton Police Officers responded to a serious domestic violence assault in the 2500 block of Fir Avenue in Bremerton. The victim has non-life threatening injuries. The suspect, Richard R. Robson, a 29 year old Belfair man, fled the scene. Law enforcement personnel are currently searching for the suspect.

The original call came at 10:57 PM on Thursday, August 13th. The female caller reported her estranged boyfriend, with whom she has a valid Order of Protection out of Kitsap County, broke into her home and violently assaulted her. The 24-year old woman reported she had only moved into her new apartment days earlier and does not know how the suspect located her. However, when she came home this evening,

Robson had broken into her new apartment and was waiting for her. Upon being confronted by her estranged boyfriend as she entered her apartment, the victim tried to run but was overpowered by suspect wherein the assault occurred. The victim was finally able to scream to alert a neighbor wherein the suspect fled the scene.

Richard Robson is still on the run and all efforts are being utilized by the Bremerton Police Department to apprehend Robson. A Certificate of Probable Cause has been completed for Felony Assault DV, Violation of Protection Order with Assault, and Residential Burglary. Bail is set in the amount of $250,000. Bremerton PD is seeking the public's assistance in locating and arresting Robson. Anyone with information should call (360) 473-5220.
